Creative Announcing Full Range of Wireless Speaker Systems

Affordable and hassle-free

Creative Technology Ltd. has just announced it released a full range of wireless speaker systems, delivering high-performance, in the shape of the ZiiSound D5, Inspire S2 Wireless and the Creative D200 and D100, which suit a variety of customer lifestyles accordingly, allowing users to enjoy music from their portable media more hassle-free, as in without having to leave their phone next to the speakers.

"Say good-bye to docking speakers because they are going to become a thing of the past. With the emergence of so many wireless capable mobile devices in 2010, Creative is now set to usher in a new era in pure music listening where you can enjoy music with your favourite mobile device through our range of wireless speakers," said Joseph Liow, Vice President for Personal Digital Entertainment Products at Creative.

These so-called state-of-the-art speaker systems comply with virtually any Stereo Bluetooth device, from mobile phones to media players and notebooks. That being said, the device just needs to be capable of Bluetooth A2DP streaming. Embedding Creative's high quality wireless audio technology, as well as the speaker enclosure tuned by the company's audio specialists, each of the new speaker systems will ensure the clearest audio possible for its class.

"This means that users are now free from the limitation of physically connecting or docking their mobile devices to their speakers to enjoy high quality music without wires - a new era in pure music listening has arrived!" added Mr. Liow.

Best of this wireless versatility is that you can keep your mobile phone in your pocket while listening to music, and in case you get a phone call, the music stops, so you may take your call (that's actually a capability of the mobile phone), then the music continues, so you don't have to walk to where the speakers are, disconnect the mobile, take your call, walk back to the speakers and reconnect it. Pricing goes like $399.00 for the ZiiSound D5 that has bundled the BT-D1 USB transmitter, which costs $59.00 separately, while the Inspire S2 sells for $199.00. Creative's D200 and D100 will be available for $149.00 and $89.00, respectively.
