Samsung Spreads Three More Headsets on the Market

WEP870, WEP850 and WEP470

Samsung announced yesterday the availability of three new sleek and chic, premium performance Bluetooth headsets - the WEP870 that combines the best features of other previous appreciated Bluetooth devices, the all so known WEP850, and the cost-effective WEP470 - all of them offering the most optimized mobile phone experience with crystal-clear conversations.

The WEP870 joins a unique noise-cancelling Bluetooth mono headset with the high-fidelity Bluetooth music streaming to premium stereo ear buds, all in one device. It can be simultaneously paired with two Bluetooth devices via multi-connection technology. Just like any headset, if the user receives or initiates a call while listening to music, the music will gently mute and come back after the conversation is done.

You can even use it if the earpiece is hanging on the lanyard, thanks to the microphone that is built in such a way that it point towards your mouth in every way. It also features dual-microphones and active noise/echo cancellation technology in order to provide the clearest communication, and, of course, an intuitive LCD screen, which displays battery level, call and Bluetooth connection status.

The WEP850 is one sleek mono-style headset designed in such a minimalist manner and yet so full of premium capabilities. It offers multipoint technology and advanced dual-microphone noise cancellation and echo reduction, and takes care of that annoying background noise.

The lower-end WEP470 is a small and lightweight, simple-to-use Bluetooth headset that offers superior sound quality. Just because it's the cheapest of the series doesn't mean it lacks the same background noise filtering and echo cancellation to supply you the best conversation experience. Yet, it doesn't feature the usual dual-microphone, but a packet loss concealment technology that blocks out the background noise.

Pricing for the three musketeers comes as follows, $89.99 for the WEP870, $69.99 for the WEP850 and $39.99 for the WEB470.
